

Academy Introduction

Shan, the founder of the EX Makeup Arts Academy in Singapore, has won the 2016 Mao Geping Makeup Design Award, as well as the distinguished makeup artist for Jiangnan Fashion Week and Shanghai International Fashion Culture Festival, China. In addition, she is a semi-permanent designer of many plastic surgery hospitals in Singapore and China. In 2017, she was invited to be the chief judge of the Olympic Beauty International Competition, and the president of the International Olympic Beauty Competition Association.

After pursuing perfection, Shan returned to Singapore after many achievements in China, and decided to share the latest semi-permanent techniques and beauty techniques with the peers of beauty industry. So in just half a year, the EX Makeup Arts Academy was founded, attracting many students to sign up. The unique air brush makeup techniques and non-anesthetic semi-permanent techniques that provided by the academy attracted the Singapore national media "Lianhe Zaobao" to make a special report about the matter, and with this, Shan had brought the sense of beauty to a higher level. Shan, who is the true believer of "sharing is gaining", started open class once in every two months to share her aesthetic knowledge for free. Many professional makeup artists came to class and learnt from her. Shan says: "having open classes as there's where I can fulfilled the joy of sharing ."

The talents cultivated by Shan gradually occupy the local market, be there weddings, talent shows, variety shows, etc, have sent invitations to EX Makeup Arts Academy, hoping to seek for sponsoring or collaborating. The academy's semi-permanent technology has become the first in Singapore, and many people are eager to try. EX Makeup Arts Academy courses include Advanced Image Designer Training, Non-anesthetic Semi-permanent Techniques, Beauty Sketches, Hand-made Wedding Accessories, Airbrush Makeup Courses, and Special Effects Make-up Courses for Movie Industry.
